

PHILOSOPHY OF EDUCATION

1. General Objectives

- To assist parents in providing for the spiritual, social, emotional, physical, and intellectual needs of their children (Luke 2:52)
- To provide a program of formal education to meet the needs of the children of Christian families in a manner that is relevant to the present society as well as that in which they will eventually live
- To provide this education at a moderate cost

2. Biblical Principles (Proverbs 2:1-6)

All instruction is to be permeated with God's Word (Deuteronomy 6:4-9), which is the standard for all spiritual, ethical, intellectual, and social training, as well as the guideline for a disciplined life.

Biblically-based education reflects the glory of God. His glory should be revealed through the Christian teacher who leads the student to interpret and integrate God's truth in his/her study through carefully selected materials and methods.

3. Description of the Teacher

- Committed Christian who reflects the spirit of Christ (Hebrews 13:7)
- Models Christ-like character and so demonstrates the reality of God's truth
- Academically competent
- Guides the student in the study of God's truth as revealed in His creation, His incarnate Word, and His written Word
- Incorporates teaching methods that adapt to each student's learning style (1 Thessalonians 2:11)
- Ever-learning and ever-growing in his/her academic disciplines, skills, and knowledge through personal study (2 Timothy 2:15)
- Committed to help each student incorporate God's truth into his/her life

4. Qualities of Instruction

- Integration of biblical principles into all academic disciplines and into all relationships (2 Timothy 3:16)
- Correlation of theoretical knowledge to fundamental life experiences (Proverbs 14:18)
- Acquisition of information through available resources, with training in critical analysis based on biblical principles (Proverbs 18:15)
- Cultivation of interest in and appreciation of vocations associated with his/her academic strengths, so the student may be better able to implement God's plan for his/her present and future ministry (2 Timothy 1:6)

SPECIFIC OBJECTIVES

It must be kept in mind that the child is a whole being rather than several parts; therefore, his/her spiritual, emotional, social, physical, and intellectual needs must be considered in the formulation of goals, objectives, and curriculum.
